Why We Can Supply You With Bulb Stock to Advantage

Our establishments are located at central points, namely, New York and Chicago.

Personal inspection during growing and packing season.

A force of trained employees who "know bulbs," many of whom have had a lifetime training in this particular line.

We advance duty, forwarding and all expenses; no charge is made for cases or packing, and our invoices show exactly the actual cost of produce placed on cars at American shipping point. Our terms of payment are liberal to buyers of standing, such extension of time being allowed on duty and all expenses as well as on costs of bulbs (we do not collect for such at time of shipment, as occurs when you import direct); shipping f. o. b. New York or Chicago, thus eliminating all worry and possibility of broker's overcharge to the buyer. Our experts visit the most prominent bulb forcing centers of this country during flowering season to keep in close touch with the public demand, thereby insuring our customers varieties that are in keeping with the times.

We can and will make it worth your while to look to us for your bulb needs each season.

Darwin Tulips

Darwin Tulips are reasonable in price this year. Suggest to your customers the planting of a bed or border of them in their garden. They provide a handsome profit and no doubt will make friends for you at blooming time.

The present is truly a buyer's market. Many items in the Bulb Line have already developed an extreme scarcity, therefore early orders should prove much to the advantage of the purchaser.

MURILLO, Double Early Tulip, Ideal as a Pot Plant

ERABU, THE RETAIL GROWER'S LILY

"Formosum and Erabu Lilies are not superior to the Giganteum or Harrisii, but they can be successfully grown in a 50-degree house, are easily handled, don't all bloom at the same time and are irregular in height. You can please customers who wish short plants as well as those looking for 4-foot stems, and an exceptionally high percentage of bulbs will grow into salable plants. But especially take into consideration the fact that a hatch of bulbs planted on the same date and grown on in the same temperature, will give you flowering plants over a period of 4 to 6 weeks. What other Lily have we more worthy of recommendation to the retail grower?"—FRITZ BAHR, noted horticultural writer, in The Florists' Exchange.

IMPORTANT—A SAVING TO YOU

Prices quoted in these pages are f. o. b. New York. We do not charge for packing, cases, cartage or brokerage fees. Furthermore, we eliminate heavy freight charges as against shipment from Eastern Points.

Merchandising Tulip Bulbs to Your Home Trade

DARWIN TULIPS are this year, as will be noted, very reasonable in price and florists can, we believe, realize a handsome profit in the merchandising of bulbs to customers for their home gardens. We have numerous clients who find this a most profitable adjunct to their business. A circular mailed now to your list of flower buyers describing the beauty and pleasure of a bed or border of Darwin Tulips next Spring will undoubtedly bring results that will not only prove profitable as well as a wonderful stimulant for your business at large when same come into flower.

TYPES OF DARWIN TULIPS

A liberal outdoor planting of DARWIN TULIPS will improve the appearance of your grounds and tend to encourage your customers to likewise beautify their home surroundings, thereby increasing your sales for bulbs.

DARWIN TULIPS

Excerpt from The American Florist, Issue of September 2, 1926, by the well known horticultural writer, "JAY-DIEZ":

"Prepare for Mother's Day"

If you have not already followed the plan of growing a quantity of named Darwin Tulips in deep coldframe for Mother's day bloom, try this out. I know of many florists who follow this plan and find it extremely profitable. Darwins can be bought very reasonably this year and I know of no better and surer crop when grown in the manner stated above, and for a day when flowers are, as is well known, in great demand."

DARWIN TULIPS

IRIS FOR CUT FLOWERS

Iris of the various types, particularly "Imperator" have always held the greatest favor as cut flowers, and previous to the U. S. embargo were imported and grown by the millions and at quite profitable prices. Their practical disappearance from the American market for a few years following said embargo caused them to be temporarily forgotten. However, the past year or two American production has brought them to the fore again, and the bulbs of following varieties can now be obtained at prices that make them profitable to grow. Inasmuch as the demand for these bulbs is active and as they are as yet only in nominal supply we suggest early purchase.

LARGE MOTHER BULBS. TEXAS GROWN IRIS are renowned for producing early blooms, as is the case with TEXAS GROWN NARCISSUS, KING ALFRED and SIR WATKIN, which can be readily forced into flower in January.

"VIRGINIA"

The scarlet Gladiolus par-excellence for forcing under glass. This exceptional variety has proved to be an unusual money-maker for the florist. See next page for description and price.

Excerpt from the American Florist, Issue of Sept. 30th, 1927, by "Jay Dee," Horticultural Writer.

LILIUM REGALE (MYRIOPHYLLUM) FINDING GREAT FAVOR

While this valuable cut flower lily was introduced from China, several years ago, it was only within the past year or two that florists generally have come to appreciate its value as a cut flower.

The flower stems of the Regale lily are slender and flexible, but tense as steel and from 3 to 5 ft. tall, covered with dense narrow foliage, and crowned with a profusion of funnel shaped blooms, the outside of which are streaked brown and shading off to pink, the inside is flushed yellow in center, shading off to pure white at the outer edge. The Regale blooming as it does in July harmonizes with many perennial blooms in flower at the same time and also when greenhouse stock is not over plentiful.

The Regale is perfectly hardy, but should be planted now or before severe frost sets in, and fully six inches deep, thriving best in rich leafy loam, although in the absence of such, any thoroughly drained loam will answer very well. For culture under glass, pot bulbs now and leave in cold frame until late December when they can be taken inside and started off in temperature of 55 deg. and which can be increased later to 70 deg. or even higher.

GIGANTEUM AUSTRALIS

Superior Strain of Giganteum

An early flowering Giganteum; we have seen this Lily in bloom, (planted in November) in the latter part of February. To florists who have not excessive heat and wish to secure a good height Giganteum, we recommend this new Giganteum Australis. We have handled this Lily for three years in an experimental way and it has proved very successful. We recommend your trying a case or two—absolutely free from disease.

Calendula "Sensation"

Calendula "Sensation" Proven Variety

The idea of popularizing the calendula for a florists' cut flower started in the vicinity of Chicago with the introduction of the "Ball Calendula," a long stemmed type well adapted to forcing. During the past few years, however, a prominent French seed specialist grower has been working judiciously to the end of improving the type.

"Sensation" is the result of his painstaking efforts and we have in this exceptional new variety something quite different from any other known strain of calendula in that it obtains a crimson or scarlet sheen which enhances the beauty and general character of the flower to an almost unbelievable extent. Especially is this most prominent under artificial light.

"Sensation" is of vigorous growth, the flowers borne on stout stems, needing little disbudding. The blooms are flat and are undoubtedly larger than those of any type previously introduced (note illustration). The color of the petals is brilliant orange with a scarlet sheen and full yellow center. "Sensation" has been thoroughly tested under glass and has been accepted as the best forcing calendula for florists' use.

What the Dale Estate of Brampton, Ontario, Canada (30 Acres Under Glass) Writes About A. B. C.'s New Calendula Sensation

"You very kindly sent us a sample of Calendula seed in September last in accordance with your letter September 12. This improved type of Calendula has proved to be very satisfactory, and our Mr. Dale thinks it better than anything he has ever had before."

We predict that when Sensation becomes generally known to the trade it will predominate in the various markets.

Price, ¼ oz., $1.00; ½ oz., $2.00; per oz., $3.00.
